Comments: I was assigned to the THIRD INFANTRY DIVISION as the division Provost Marshal in 1970-71. The division headquarters was then in Wurzburg, Germany. Audie Murphy was alive at the time and his deeds were an integral part of the division's history. I suspect that he is still a source of inspiration to the soldiers of that division.

Comments: As I was beginning life in the 60's I believed I did not have a hero or perhaps a idol to look up too, I believed this until my late 20's. Now many years later I realized that I did have some one I admired, as you might call a hero. That person was Audie Murphy. I admired him for his humbleness above all else. He did not walk around on screen like he was god gift to the world. He was not a big man but he walked with the biggest of men. Lois L'amour would have said he was a man to ride the river with. I wish I would have know him, but he died when I was about 11. He no doubt made his mark on history, like so many other great people who died early, we have been blessed with his very short presence on this earth. I wonder if god plans it that way.

I don't think that there can ever be a better. This Memorial Day should be spent honoring those who fought for our freedom and not taking vacation down at the beach. Audie and everyone else who fought will live forever inside of my heart. Thank you.

He, DeLloyd Cooper, a member of 275th Armored Field Artillery BN had been through his own version of hell east of St. Vith in December 1944, but said little of it at the time. What a fitting tribute to Lt. Murphy a commorative stamp would be.

Comments: I am grateful for the service of Audie Murphy to his country. There are not many left and I do strongly feel that our flag is not waving quite as high lately. I have seen a few flags around where I live that are being left out at night with no light source being displayed against it to shine on it. I notified the VFW concerning it and they said they would do something about it but nothing as of yet; this was 2-3 months ago and most of all this is at a U.S. Post Office here in Horn Lake. God bless you and thank you for this web site. In Christ, William Rasmussen

Comments: Dear MR. Rodgers, Just so happy that there is something like this for Sargent Audie Murphy. Am son of WWII veteran myself, grew up during the viet nam era and heard all the retoric that it worse in Viet Nam than in WWII. Well i think people are starting to relize that any man that fight's a war is going to go thru hell when he come's back. However, In the New York Dailey News a few months ago there was an uproar in the editorial section on changing the name of a street. The initial problems came from people who said "who is Audie Murphy". Well that stared an uproar from alot of people in the tri state area. Thankfully they printed the responses. I personally thought the the movie "To Hell and Back " when I first saw it was pure Hollywood. When I found out later it was all true. I was devastated. He was a incredible person. Also a cretid to every American. Thank You Very Much! Christopher Matecki

Comments: This site performs a needed service. Heros are the result of the good eliminating the bad. In the world of today, it is no longer popular to differeniate between the good and the bad. Audie was able to stand up and be counted and to fight and destroy the bad. He did not enjoy what he did but he did it because it had to be done to protect the good. Enemies may be understood, but only after their defeat.

Comments: I have just seen to hell and back with my 16 year old son. him and I have had a lot of difficulties lately because of his not wanting to take responsibility for his actions. We just happened on to this movie by accident because of an extra credit opportunity he had for school, his teacher had told him to watch a movie over World War two and suggested he rent saving private ryan. fortunatley that one was not avalaible at the time and we stumbled on to this one. It was a tremendous story that I had not even heard till now. I could tell by the way he talked about the movie after that he was impressed with Audie Murphy life story, wouldn't it be great if we still had heroes our kids could look up to like that instead of some sports athelete that makes millions. I would like to note that in this web site you give Audie credit for some poems. Well actually if you refer to the book you will see That one of his comrads , I believe Kerrigan, actually was the author. I think Audie would like for people to know that, instead of him getting udue credit. He has much to be proud of as it is!!!!

Comments: I am 19 years old and love the movies/work of Audie Murphy. I saw my first Audie Murphy movie 2 summers ago... it was "7 Ways From Sundown." AMC was having a movie marathon to celebrate Audie's birthday and I watched his movies all day long.... others I've seen include "Night Passage" (w/Jimmy Stewart), "The Cimarron Kid", "The Kid From Texas", "Ride A Crooked Trail", Battle At Bloody Beach", and "The Duel At Silver Creek." I would like to see all of his other movies, but I don't remeber when his birthday is to see if AMC will show them again.... I have also seen "To Hell And Back", which is based on his real-life war story that made him a hero.... I liked it so much that I bought it.... If anyone can tell me more about this wonderful actor and brave war hero, please email me at: grahamcracker9@hotmail.com We all miss you Audie..... :)

Comments: Yes I too believe Audie Murphy is a true American hero. Someone I would have been honored to meet. As I read through these messages on this site,I am gratified to see many people express many of the same thoughts that, I if I could, tell Audie and others like him how much it means to have real hero's to look up to. I also am at the same time troubled that many of the same values that these brave men fought and died for we are losing rapidly either by apathy or blind faith in a government that in actuality seeks to strip all god given rights from the people. We have become the very thing these men were fighting against and yet we still cling to the idea that we are still free. Think about it and you will see what I say is true. Can you build on your property without permission [building permit]. How about work without a government number [ssn]. Travel with out your papers [drivers liscense]. Own your own business [again liscense]. Or even get married [you guessed it liscense]. Scan the web for other sources of information and you will be amazed. Yes it takes courage to come face to face with the truth and then act upon it. In his time Audie did, but then at this honored site you already knew that didn't you!

Comments: I teach U.S. History in an area of the country known for its history, patriotism, and large number of proud Irish Americans. My father and uncle served in WWII, (my uncle was on Tinian Island when Fat Man was loaded into the Enola Gay.) My cousin served in Vietnam and was killed there in 1967 when I was 12. I think this site is a great idea and I support your efforts to keep the memory of Audie Murphy alive. Thank you!

Comments: Way back in 1955{only 14 yrs.old at the time}me and my 2yrs. older uncle stumbled {luckily for me}into this war movie starring audie murphy! It didnt take very long to see that this young man in the movie {audie}was making a tremendous impression on me.I could feel a closeness for him that was to last a lifetime.I was thinking "wow what a hero".His love for his fellow comrades seemed so real! Also it was his great "coolness",small stature,shy confidance and fearless leadership that sold me on audie murphy"s image..the image of a perfect role model for me. Well we must have arrived late for the movie because i learned late in the movie that this was actually audie's autobiography!! From that moment on.. audie murphy has been a profound inspritation for me and the greatest hero i could ever imagine.He was the "ultimate"human survior,and he did it with dignity!Thanks for the memories Audie L.Murphy, Americas greatest hero..

Comments: I first saw the movie "To Hell and Back" a few years ago. I was very impressed with the movie, especially Audy Murphy. The thing which impressed me the most was Audy was turned down from the other branches of the military, yet he perservered and joined the United States Army. He worked so hard to prove to others that he could do his duty inspite of his age, or size. The love he expressed to his mother and brothers and sisters was a sign of who this great man truly was. It is tragic that so many children do not have an opportunity to learn more about Audy Murphy and his life. I think it is a great idea to have a stamp printed in his name. I was born in 1965 and grew up as a foster child my entire life. The one thing I think is tragic is the fact that I never read anything about him in the history books, he should be entitled to a page or chapter, along with the other men who earned the the Congressional Medal of Honor. I am currently enrolled in college and was just inducted into the Phi Theta Kappa International Honor Society. Next week I will be swoern in as President of my chapter. One of the first things I want to do is to begin an education program for young children and adults who never heard of Audy Murphy. I think many children's live could be enriched when they read about this mans life, and the sacrifices he made for his family, his men, and his country. Please let me know if you have any materials I can use to begin my project. My e-mail address is: tbear@tiac.net my web page is <http://www.tiac.net/users/tbear> Sincerely, Tim davis.

Comments: I have just re-read "To Hell and Back". I had first read it when I was just a boy of 14 or so. I was at the library a few days ago and saw it and decided to read it again. It is not so surprising that I read it like I had never read it at all. I don't remember what my reaction was when I was a boy but I know that it was nothing like my reaction was now. As I read the book I was taken by the exchanges between the guys and the way that they came to accept that they were most likely not going to make it. I identified with them because that is the way that I felt in 67 and part of 68. I made a few very good friends and none of them made it home. I too felt that I had been "branded" by war and was afraid that I would never fully recover. But, as thousands did, I slowly recovered and have led a good life. But, sometimes someone will say something or I will see something and it will remind me of one of my old friends that did not make it back. It makes me feel bad for awhile but I feel glad that I had the pleasure and the honor to be their friend. They are all Heros to me. Audie would have been a good buddy to have. Different generation but still the same as us.

I recall his death in 1971 and remember thinking how tragic it was for a man who endured so much to die so tragically after going through what he did during the war. However, he is an American worth remembering; and, I do. I thank you for creating this site for a soldier as worthy as Audie Murphy.

Comments: I first discovered Audie Murphy on the cover of Life Magazine when he was featured with all of his medals. My sisters and I were in an orphanage at that time and all of us had a crush on him. After I read his autobiography, I started to write to him and even sent him my autobiography that I had written for a class project. He answered my letters and sent me Christmas cards for several years. After I left the orphanage I stopped writing to him. I joined the AF, got married and didn't keep any of my correspondence from him, something I will always regret. I was devastated when he died. I thank you for your website. Reading it brought back many memories. I am happy to hear he is not forgotten. He was truly a hero for the US and for me a lonely little girl. May he rest in peace.

I visited his grave at Arlington a number of years ago. I am always happy to see that he is still remembered as I think the type of interest he still generates speaks well for the people who admire his memory. Audie Murphy was the real thing and his struggles with PTSD and related issues later in life only reinforce his heroism of WWII days. I wish I had the opportunity to meet him and envy anybody who did.

Comments: A great site! And I love the portrait above. Great colorizing job! She's a good artist! That would make the perfect Audie Murphy Commemorative Stamp. She ought to submit it. I'd back it. Would love an 8"x10" print of it. This site and the other sites of Audie are very important in keeping his memory alive. In promoting his stamp to a Postal Service that is very anti-veteran and obnoxious to all of us who campaign to make the stamp a reality. My buddy, Greg Jacobs, is a vet and has dedicated himself to see the stamp become a reality. To date he has obtained, personally, around 1500 signatures on the petitions and is not stopping. I'm contacting newspapers and radio stations to get the word out. I call on all those who read this to do the same. Remember, people, the Post Office has shown it's colors. They seem to hate vets in general and Audie Murphy in particular. Let's show them the errors of their ways. It's sad that other countries like in Africa can honor Audie with stamps but his own country refuses. This will change. Thank you.

Comments: Great site ! I,ve seen "To hell and back" many,many times. Audie was one of our greatest soldiers. Not much on the acting side except for his bio movie. I am 54 yrs. old and remember him well (not personally) To bad he couldn't have continued his military career. He would have been a great leader and instructor to our young men and women of the Armed Forces of the U.S..

Comments: I have known of Audie Murphy since I was ten years old. He meant so much to me because I wrote to him and he really answered my letters. I sent Valentines to his kids and he got me through a really rough time in my home life. He was a man that I could look up to. I received Jesus Christ as my Saviour in 1971 the year he died. I have prayed that he was a Christian so I could finally meet him in Heaven. I am 53 years old now and I still think of him often. I have a 14 year old son and I try to tell him about what a wonderful person I thought he was. This is a great site. I look forward to spending some time reviewing the contents. Thanks for what you are doing. Pat Luna

Comments: I HAVE BEEN STUDYING FOR THE SAMC BOARD AND WAS TRULY IMPRESSED BY WHAT I FOUND. WHEN THEY SAID THERE WOULD NEVER BE ANOTHER AUDIE MURPHY, THEY WEREN'T KIDDING. IT IS AN HONOR TO BE INDUCTED INTO HIS CLUB. BUT NO ONE, MEMBERS INCLUDED COULD EVER COME CLOSE TO DOING OR JUST BEING WHAT THIS GREAT SOLDIER DID. HE WAS INDEED A LEGEND IN HIS OWN TIME.

Comments: I am in my late thirties and have been reading alot lately about D-Day and have had my eyes opened to the bravery of the men that fought in WWII. I have learned to appreciate the sacrifice that they made for this country and have the upmost respect for the soldiers of this era. Thanks for the site.

Comments: My father is a highly decorated veteran of WWII, having served in N. Africa, Sicily, and Italy where he was badly wounded. He did meet Audie Murphy, and named me for him. I have (for obvious reasons) always had an interest in Audie Murphy, and am delighted to have found this website. Thank you!
